It's a smart business move.

You know what it takes to run your own business. Now run your one with unlimited earning potential. Own your Farmers® agency and make commissions for every policy you sell or renew. That's an upside you may not find with opportunities.

Lifetime customers are smart business.

As a Farmers small business owner, you can provide information as your customers make sound decisions about coverage at every stage of their lives. And, because Farmers also provides Financial Services, you can give them options as they work to achieve their financial dreams.

We'll help you succeed.

Farmers offers the financial structure and marketing plan to get you started.

Plus, Farmers Insurance training has been ranked in the top five by Training Magazine for four years.
